Accenture Technology Vision 2025

AI: A Declaration of Autonomy

According to business leaders surveyed in South Africa:

of South African executives agree technology systems will need to be built for AI agents as much as humans over the next 3-5 years

Your Face, in the Future_____ of South African executives agree chatbots that all sound the same will make it harder for brands to differentiate of South African executives believe natural language communication will increase trust and collaboration between humans and robots

New Learning Loop

of South African executives agree it is critical to communicate their organization's AI strategy to build trust with employees of South African executives report a need to train employees on gen Al tools